Franc Devalued As Chautemps Granted Powers

Gold Content of French Currency Quickly Abrogated Under New Act

Bourse to Open Again Thursday

PARIS (CP-Havas) — The Bank of France tonight was authorized to advance 15,000,000,000 francs to the state. Finance Minister Bonnet had announced the government intended to float no new loans, but would obtain necessary funds from the Bank of France.

The gold content of the franc as last quoted was abrogated tonight by government decree. The new content will be fixed later, the decree stipulated.

Under the monetary law of last October, passed after conclusion of the British-United States-French monetary accord, the franc's lower limit was fixed at 43 milligrams of fine gold. Tonight's decree abolished this specification.

The Bourse will reopen tomorrow, it was announced.

FULL POWERS VOTED
Earlier today the Senate by 167 to 82 had voted the Chautemps government full finance powers including the right to make such decrees as that issued tonight.

The Chamber of Deputies already had approved the measure, 374 to 206.

SEEKS OWN LEVEL
Enactment of the "decree power" measure permitted the Finance Minister to let the franc seek its own lower level in world markets, take steps to conserve France's sapped gold supply, stop speculative abuses, control prices. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Victoria to Press For Landing Field

Committee From Greater Victoria Formed to Inspect Suitable Sites

Victoria will make a determined effort to be placed on the air map of Canada, and will ask the Minister of Transport, expected here shortly, for an emergency landing field and the re-opening of the Inner Harbor to flying boats.

This was decided yesterday afternoon at a well-attended meeting of the airport committee of Greater Victoria, of which Alderman Archie Willis is chairman. Representatives of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt, as well as members of the Chamber of Commerce, were in attendance.

Following the meeting, Alderman Willis named a committee of five to consider a number of locations adjacent to Victoria for the proposed emergency landing field, and to prepare a brief and wait on Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, and have him see the sites when he comes to Victoria in a few weeks.

Named to this committee were Ernest Eve, Harold Husband, R. H. B. Ker, C. H. O'Halloran K.C., and Alderman Willis.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Harold Husband, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said an emergency landing field was a good start towards a municipal airport.

"Some enthusiasm should be developed about this," R. H. B. Ker said. "There is no community of the size of Victoria on the North American continent that hasn't an airport. We must pull together in these matters."

Reeve Wm. Crouch of Saanich said there would be no funds forthcoming from Saanich, although he favored a municipal airport. He took the opportunity (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

SCHOOL'S OUT IS CRY TODAY

Thousands of Youngsters Freed From Books Take to Beaches

Greater Victoria's thousands of school children and dozens of teachers shut their desks today, packed their books and went home to enjoy two months of freedom before starting their duties again in September.

At least, the youngsters went home to freedom. Most of the teachers will take summer courses that will keep them busy until the first week of August. Then three weeks' real vacation and back to school.

This evening the general exodus to summer camps at nearby lake and beach resorts will start.

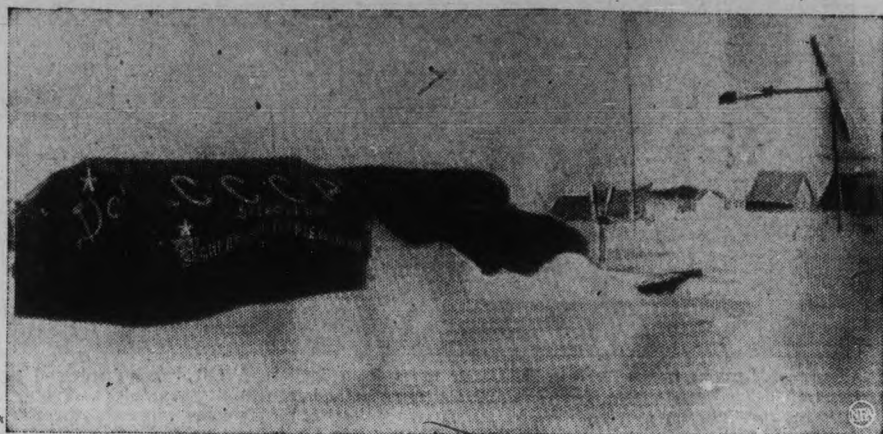

The weather turned fine and warm this morning just in time for the Dominion Day holiday. There was a run on bathing suits and parasols in city stores today as everyone prepared for a gala summer after a long, cold spring.

The summer school courses will open at Victoria High next Monday and will attract hundreds of school teachers from all parts of the province. A number of city teachers intend to leave shortly for Seattle to take summer courses at the University of Washington.

Victoria's schoolhouses will be quiet during the next two months, except when repairs are being carried out. There is not a great deal to be done this year, however.

It is estimated that 120,000 children in the public schools of British Columbia started their longest vacation of the year today.

Adventurers' Camp Near North Pole

This first picture of the camp was flown to Moscow on the return of Professor Otto Schmidt and three of the four planes that participated in establishment of the base, and came to Victoria by radiophoto, airplane and ship.

Election Result In Nova Scotia Big Liberal Victory

Macdonald Government Wins 25 Out of 30 Seats, Gaining Four

HALIFAX (CP) — Nova Scotia's Liberal government, headed by Premier Angus L. Macdonald, today held a mandate for a second term. Its legislative majority of the last four years swelled in a general election.

A wave of ballots carried 25 of the Legislature's 30 seats to the Liberal column in the voting Tuesday—four more than the government party had at the recent dissolution—and swept the Conservative opposition leader out of the House as his party sank to its lowest representation in more than a decade.

Personal defeat overtook the opposition chief, Col. Gordon S. Harrington, in his home riding of Cape Breton South, while the 46-year-old Premier retained his seat in Halifax South.

All ridings in Cape Breton Island fell to the Liberals. On the mainland, only the double ridings of Colchester and Cumberland and the single-seated Queen's constituency returned Conservatives. In Cumberland, the opposition party gained one seat from the government—its only advance.

Every member of the Macdonald cabinet seeking re-election went back with an increased majority with the exception of Attorney-General J. H. MacQuarrie in Pictou. The Attorney-General and his running mate, N. G. Munro, were elected in the double riding country with decreased majorities.

Not a candidate lost his deposit. The four Liberal gains were chalked up on Cape Breton Island, in Cape Breton North, South and West and Victoria.

Parkers Sentenced In Wendel Case

At Newark, N.J., Ellis Sr. Given Six Years and Ellis Jr. Three Years in Prison

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Ellis Parker Sr., chief of the Burlington County detectives, was sentenced to six years in a federal penitentiary today, and his son, Ellis Jr., to three years for plotting the kidnapping of Paul H. Wendel.

The Parkers were convicted a week ago of conspiring to seize and torture Wendel, former Trenton, N.J., lawyer, to obtain from him a false confession to the Lindbergh baby kidnapping. The "confession," investigated by two grand juries, delayed the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann three days.

APPEAL PLANNED

The jury, which heard testimony for nine weeks, recommended leniency and Federal Judge William Clark, who imposed the sentences today, said then the recommendation would carry "great weight."

Half an hour after the sentencing, J. Mercer Davis, chief defence counsel, announced an appeal would be taken to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Pending the appeal, Judge Clark fixed bail of $20,000 each.

Earhart Flight This Evening

Aboard U.S. Coastguard Cutter Itasca at Howland Island (AP)—Amelia Earhart reported today she and her navigator, Capt. F. J. Noonan, planned to start tomorrow on the most hazardous stage of their leisurely world encircling flight.

The hop is mapped to carry them over 2,570 miles of ocean, across the equator and the international dateline from Lae, New Guinea, to lonely Howland Island.

As times are figured locally, the plane will complete the 18 or 20-hour flight a few hours before she starts it.

The pilot radioed the take-off would be made at 1:30 p.m., Lae time, Thursday, "if the weather is O.K." Crossing the international dateline on the way, the plane would arrive here between 10 a.m. and noon, Howland time, Thursday.

Translated into Pacific Standard Time the flight would begin at 7:30 Wednesday evening and end between 1:30 and 3:30 Thursday afternoon.

Report Comes From Loyalist Spanish Minorca as Italo-German Observers Quit

Valencia, Spain (AP)—A naval demonstration by a fleet "of unknown nationality" off the Spanish government's Balearic island of Minorca was reported to the defence minister tonight by the commander of the Port Mahon naval base on the island. He said it was carried out at 11 Tuesday night.

BRITISH CABINET MEETS

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain called a cabinet meeting today to consider the situation created by the refusal of Germany and Italy to accept Anglo-French proposals for continuing the non-intervention naval patrol off the Spanish coast.

Official quarters discounted, however, reports Great Britain was considering the immediate grant of belligerent rights to the Spanish factions. Such rights would extend the sanction of international law to naval operations involving the halting and visiting of neutral shipping, and as the insurgents are stronger at

Extra Postage On Late Letter

VAN BUREN, Ark.—A letter was delivered to Greenlee Jones last Monday—12 years and 12 days after it accidentally dropped behind a letter box.

The climax, reported today: The postman asked and Jones paid an extra cent postage because of the change in rates since 1925.

Anti-climax: The letter was a request for a loan from a friend in Oklahoma.

Wounded Man Is Found on Island

VANCOUVER—Suffering from slashes on the wrists and exposure, 60-year-old Donald Sinclair was in a hospital here this afternoon, his condition reported "just fair." He was found early today as he lay beside a bog on Lulu Island, where hospital attaches estimated he must have been from four to seven days. No explanation of his condition was available from police.

OTTAWA — Treasury bills totaling $35,000,000 were sold today, it was announced by the Bank of Canada. Due October 1, 1937, the bills sold at an average discount price of $99.8421 and the average yield is .634 per cent.

ROCKS FLY IN STEEL STRIKE

Canton, Ohio, Mills Reopen Under Military Guard After Outbreak

CANTON, O. (AP)—Stone-throwing pickets injured eight non-striking workers of the Republic Steel Corporation in a back-to-work movement today. Operations in three of Republic's Canton mills were resumed successfully, under protection of the Ohio national guard, after an early morning flare-up.

Evacuation of 2,000 men, interned in the plants since the strike was called May 25, was under way in groups of 800, as non-striking workers moved in to take their places.

Dynamite smashed a water main, quickly repaired; telephone wires were ripped from poles and jeering pickets were herded back by heavily armed guardsmen, aided by two low-flying airplanes as the back-to-work movement was started.

Seventy-five pickets were arrested and held on technical charges.

The most seriously injured non-striker was Louis Govel, who may have concussion of the brain. Stones were thrown at automobiles carrying men into the plants. Aside from Govel, injuries of the others were not serious.

MANY AUTOS USED

By mid morning, Republic announced that 112 automobiles had hurriedly been driven to the plants, and the movement of cars in and out kept up.

Some 200 pickets, many women, were kept moving smartly along by the guardsmen. Reluctantly, they kept on a patient march, two and three in (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Ottawa Scored On Veto Disuse

Ontario Judge Tells Toronto Club Federal Powers Atrophied

TORONTO (CP)—Failure of the federal government to veto the 1937 "Roebuck act" barring power companies from collecting on judgments against the province of Ontario was criticized here today by County Judge Joseph Weir of London, Ont., in an address before a service club.

"The federal government, apparently for political reasons and without thought of future consequence, has through the years allowed undoubted powers which it possesses to become atrophied through disuse," said Judge Weir.

"Within recent years, too, the Alberta Legislature passed certain acts dealing with financial matters which on the very face of them appeared to be ultra vires as directly encroaching on the Dominion field. But, although these statutes were obnoxious from every federal point of view, no effort at all was made by the central authorities to exercise the undoubted power of veto."

No Blame For Prison Shooting

MONTREAL—Alphonse Desmoraux, tower guard at the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, was exonerated today by a coroner's jury for the fatal shooting yesterday of convict Onesphère Michelin, felled by shotgun pellets as he attacked guard Zoltique Aube.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death after guards and convicts had described the attack on Aube by Michelin, 26-year-old resident of Three Rivers, Que., serving his third term in prison.

FLIER SUPPLIES MURDER CLUES

Blood-stained Cloth Found Where California Triple Slayer Seen From Air

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The first definite and tangible clues to the kidnap-slayer of three Inglewood girls were in the hands of police today.

They were furnished from observation of Walter D. Burdette, aviator, who from the air first sighted the bodies of the three little girls Monday afternoon in the ravine of Baldwin Hills.

Burdette told police he saw a small automobile, of the type other witnesses said the fiendish killer lured the girls from the city park here. The automobile was on a road near a bridge about three miles from where the bodies were found. Near the car was a man wearing clothes similar to those described as the killer's attire.

Police visiting the bridge area found a laundry slip, photographs of nude women apparently torn from magazines, a blood-stained cloth, a pair of undergarments and several newspapers dated last week.

These are being investigated for fingerprints. A man officials identified only as "Eddie the Sailor" became suspect No. 1 in the search for (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

HSINKING, Manchukuo (AP) — Japanese-Manchukuan artillery along the disputed Amur River border was reported in Japanese army and news agency advices today to have sunk one "invading" Soviet Russian gunboat, badly damaged another and forced a third to flee.

Thus, the long troubled Far East frontier relations between Russia and the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchukuo reached a dramatic and dangerous climax.

The Japanese said the Soviet vessels had "invaded" a Manchukuan channel south of Sennufu (Kanchatu) Island in the river and fired on Japanese-Manchukuan forces guarding the shore. The latter's guns returned the fire.

Later advices said the Soviet Amur River fleet of more than a dozen gunboats and many seaplanes was being concentrated. The gravest view was taken of the situation. Powerful Japanese-Manchukuan reinforcements were being rushed to the river to prepare for eventualities.

PROTEST IS SENT
The Manchukuan government immediately filed a vigorous protest to Moscow against the alleged invasion.

Ever since Japan took over Manchuria from China in 1931, the frontier between Far Eastern Russian and Manchukuo, its Japanese-sponsored neighbor, has been disputed.

Up to that time the Russians enjoyed a virtual monopoly of the Amur River, which runs along the northeastern edge of Manchukuo.

Various subsequent attempts by Soviet Russia and Manchukuo to establish a recognized borderline along the 3,000-mile frontier, especially in the Amur area, failed.

The two sides reached a waterways agreement in 1934, but Russia denounced it.

Heat Wave Breaks On Prairies; Wet July 1 Expected in Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Cloudy and cool with showers is the weatherman's promise for Canada generally on Dominion day.

It may not be real holiday weather, but it will bring relief at least to Alberta and Saskatchewan, which have been suffering record high temperatures in the past few days.

In contrast to the west, Ontario has been getting unseasonably cool weather and this is expected to continue over the holiday. The temperature dropped to 45 degrees Tuesday night at North Bay and to around 48 degrees in western Ontario. Peterborough reported the coldest last day of June in many years.

Over Ontario generally the coolness and rain, or threat of rain, promised to dampen the holiday celebrations considerably. But the weather has lessened the forest fire hazard and improved the crop outlook in northern Ontario.

On Dominion Day the maritimes will have fresh winds with (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

RECEIVER FOR DOUKHOBORS

Sun Life Official Becomes Landlord of Sect As Mortgage Closed

VANCOUVER—The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada has become landlord to the majority of British Columbia's Doukhobors.

Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in Supreme Court chambers Tuesday appointed D. D. Munro, the company's provincial loan manager, receiver to the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Ltd., which owns 15,000 acres of land in southeastern British Columbia on which the Sun Life holds a mortgage of $200,000. In addition there are owing interest arrears of $19,000 and taxes of $37,000.

Mr. Munro will proceed to Brilliant, B.C., near Nelson, within the next few days and will appoint a Russian-speaking deputy to collect rents ordinarily due to the Community itself.

Mr. Munro said he expected co-operation from the tenants in rent payment. If they did not co-operate the usual legal procedure of foreclosure would be followed.

Irish Prepare to Vote Tomorrow

Observers Who Predicted Big Valera Victory Not So Sure Now

DUBLIN, Irish Free State—The general election campaign drew to a close today with President Eamon de Valera quietly confident of an increase in his own parliamentary strength and ratification of the new constitution he sponsors.

Irish Free State citizens will vote tomorrow. Defeat of the new constitution making the Free State a republic in all but name was considered remote by most political observers today, but those who a few weeks ago predicted a runaway victory for the Valera government were hedging.

In the new Dail (Parliament) 138 are to be filled by the ballot. The old membership was 153.

At the recent dissolution of the Dail the standing of the parties (there were vacancies because of deaths) was: Government, 77; Cosgrave and Independent Opposition, 64; Labor, 8.

Labor leaders predicted they would hold the balance of power after tomorrow.

Opposition Leader William T. Cosgrave and his adherents have stumped on a bread-and-butter slogan, contending that while the new constitution doesn't matter one way or another economically its autocratic tone widens the gulf between the Free State and Northern Ireland.

REFORMED CHURCH SESSIONS CLOSE

MONTREAL—Rev. Dr. Robert Laird of Toronto was elected president of the Alliance of Presbyterian and Reformed Churches at the closing business session of the 15th quadrennial conference here Tuesday.

Rev. Dr. George H. Donald of Montreal was named western vice-president and Rev. Prof. Adolf Keller of Geneva, eastern vice-president.

A special commission of 15 delegates also was named to study revision of the constitution of the alliance and consider possible pronouncements for the next council meeting in 1941.

A resolution protesting the "deplorable crisis in the situation of our ecclesiastical brethren in Germany" was adopted at the closing session.

Lord Craigmyle Called By Death

Former British Judge Who Visited Victoria Succumbs in Glasgow

GLASGOW—Baron Craigmyle, distinguished jurist, whose work as a lord of appeal and a member of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council made him widely known throughout the Empire, died Tuesday, aged 87.

He was better known as Lord Shaw of Dunfermline, his title while active in judicial work. He was born at Dunfermline, Scotland. On retiring in 1929 he was created Baron Craigmyle of Craigmyle, a title to which his son, Hon. Alexander Shaw, a director of the Bank of England, succeeds.

Lord Shaw heard many cases of importance to Canada during his years in the Privy Council committee, including an appeal of the old Grand Trunk Railway and one on the Toronto Street Railway. He visited Canada in 1922, attending the Vancouver meeting of the Canadian Bar Association.

He was a member of the House of Commons—as Thomas Shaw—from 1892 to 1909. For a time he held the positions of Solicitor-General and Lord Advocate for Scotland.

Lord Shaw was called the "Peter Pan" of the courts because of his whimsical remarks and judicial opinions. He was chairman of a royal commission that investigated the Dublin riots in 1914.

Among his writings was "The Trial of Jesus Christ," from the legal standpoint.

While on the British Columbia coast in 1922, Lord Shaw visited Victoria.

BRITISH BY-ELECTION

ILFORD, Eng.—The government retained the Ilford House of Commons seat in a by-election Tuesday. The Conservative candidate, Geoffrey Hutchinson, Hampstead barrister, defeated Percy Astins, Labor, county councillor for Essex, by 25,533 votes to 16,214. The 9,319 majority compared with Sir George Hamilton's 17,967 majority over Astins in the 1935 general election when the vote was much heavier, 43,208 to 25,241. Hamilton, a Conservative, recently retired from the House of Commons.

MONTREAL—A convict at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary was shot to death by a guard Tuesday at a prison quarry outside the penitentiary walls after an asserted attempt to attack a second guard.

The prisoner was identified as Onesiphore Michelin, 25, of Three sentence for breaking and entering, Rivers, Que., who was serving a life term.

Shot through the head, he died instantly. The convict's death was confirmed late Tuesday night by Col. P. A. Puize, prison governor, but the governor declined to reveal details of the incident until today's inquest.

Newsreels Face Roosevelt Ban

Acme and AP Are Penalized For Democratic Rally Methods

WASHINGTON—A White House aide has advised Acme Newspictures Inc. and the Associated Press news photo service that, because of their Jefferson Island picture "scoops," they "probably will not make any more pictures of the president for some time to come."

Instructions to enforce the ban were given to secret service men Tuesday by Stephen Early, assistant secretary to President Roosevelt.

Early said "the President knows nothing about it."

He stated he had not set any definite limit to the no-picture order. "I do not know when picture possibilities may present themselves," he explained, adding that he intended to make it effective until competing agencies had been enabled to balance the scales.

He said the order was given by him because of tactics used in getting pictures by arrangement with congressmen. He referred to use by the two news photo services of pictures taken by guests on the first day of the Jefferson Island Democratic rally last week. On that day photographers were barred from the island. This, Early said, was "until arrangements could be made for all of them to go together." The photographers, respecting the wishes of the presidential party, sought other sources of first day pictures. The affected agencies obtained exclusive pictures.

Asked if a similar order had ever been issued previously, Early responded with: "And the AP never before loaned its camera to a congressman to make a picture."

Associated Press photographers said the pictures guests obtained were taken with amateur equipment and that none of their news photo equipment had been loaned for that purpose.

BRITISH GOLD PLAN SCORED

LONDON—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express Tuesday commented on Great Britain's gold stabilizing efforts as follows:

"The British government will acquire another £200,000,000 of that stuff and stick it in the cellars of the Bank of England. It means we add £200,000,000 to the national debt to buy a useless commodity and also have the privilege of paying interest on it."

"How much wiser to make a simple deal with the Union of South Africa and the Union of Russia, where they mine it, to keep it in its native ground instead of digging it up and carting it several thousand miles in order to put it back in the ground here. If required we could have a company of guards to do sentry duty over it there as they do here, march to the bank every day and holding up traffic."

Three Score and Ten

TOMORROW, ANOTHER DOMINION
Day, we shall pause to mark the seventieth anniversary of the Confederation pact of 1867 which set up within the British Empire the political entity known to the world as the Dominion of Canada.

Seventy years is the life span of man, but in the life span of a people it is merely the link with yesterday. As nations go we are still in our early youth. The optimism and confidence of youth has characterized our outlook during these years. Our progress has not been without its temporary setbacks, but difficult times we have surmounted with our youthful vigor, courage and resourcefulness. We have survived wars and depressions with the free and democratic political institution we adopted three score years and ten ago intact. We have seen our imperial relationships develop, step by step, through these years until now we have the status of a free nation within the British Commonwealth, acknowledging allegiance directly to George VI as our King and on a parity with the relationship between Britain herself and the King. We have seen our status in this respect accorded full recognition on the part of the nations outside the Commonwealth.

Now as we go into the eighth decade of our confederate existence, with our external status established, we find ourselves turning to our internal or domestic structure. Conditions which have changed since 1867 are forcing upon us changes in the relationship between the provincial units composing the Confederation and between those units and the central or Dominion government. Just as accepted scientific facts and even cherished religious truths must be restated at frequent intervals in the light of new knowledge and fluxing circumstances, so the relationships between the federated units of the Dominion must be submitted for adjustment in view of the changing tempo of the times and economic incidences. If the federation is to be maintained at a high point of vitality. To effect this adjustment in our 71st year of Confederation a Royal Commission will soon be set exploring. Its findings and the extent to which they prove acceptable will largely determine what the story of Confederation during its second 70 years will be.

We are not without pessimists in the highest places in all our political parties. There are some of our best informed men, who pondering the problems of the Dominion and noting the rapid development of disruptive forces, economic and racial, do not hesitate to admit their fears that Confederation will not outlive men and women who are now in their prime of life. It is probable there have always been pessimists on Confederation. In fact, when we read political history of the Maritimes we are sure of it. But in the face of all such fears, Confederation has survived these years of testing. If we display the courage and resourcefulness of our earlier years, combined with a national outlook, it will be good for another 70 years—at least. We think most Canadians want Confederation to continue. For one thing they, consciously or unconsciously, are Confederation-minded. For another, above parochial economic and racial influences, they recognize that only through Confederation can the permanency of democratic institutions as we enjoy them be safeguarded for all sections. This, beyond all else, we believe is what Canadians of all groups desire.

Another Total Wreck

THE TOWNSEND PLAN, WHICH BEFORE the United States elections last November was intriguing oldsters with a promise of $200 a month pension for all for life, and which was spreading its contagion to Canada, is well on its way to the limbo of forgotten schemes. From Washington, D.C., comes the news that the proposed Townsend convention there is off and with it the proposed $5,000,000 Townsend lobby fund to be raised by the collection of dimes from those who expected to benefit.

Announcement of "indefinite postponement" of the convention of 15,000 Townsends has been followed by the declaration of Congressman John S. McGroarty of California, once official sponsor of the Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension Plan, that "the plan is a complete and total wreck due, I believe, wholly to the erratic and dubious methods employed by the man whose name the movement bore."

This and the walkout of the Townsend Weekly staff, coupled with the row over $16,000 in prize money offered by the weekly, appear to ring down the curtain on an extraordinary movement which once roused the hopes and lured the dimes or dollars of millions—most of them elderly folk led to fondly believe that they would spend their remaining days on federal pensions of $200 a month.

Politically, of course, Townsend died in the election last fall in a sister act with Father Coughlin, Bill Lemke and the Rev.

Gerald L. K. Smith. When it came to the voting they were revealed as lacking in weight with the public.

Victory in Nova Scotia

THE SURPRISE IN THE NOVA SCOTIA elections comes in the news of the defeat of Hon. Gordon Harrington, Conservative Opposition Leader, in his riding of Cape Breton South. The rest of Canada has had its eyes on Mr. Harrington as another of those bright young men the Maritimes contribute regularly to our Dominion public life. In fact, he has recently been considered the most likely successor to Hon. R. B. Bennett when the time comes for the Conservative party to name a new national leader. Mr. Harrington's defeat yesterday, apparently due to local issues in his constituency in a part of the province where labor feelings have been running high, will, however, probably turn out to be only a temporary setback in a career of promise.

Nova Scotia has been traditionally Liberal and so the odds were in favor of a Liberal victory. But it is doubtful whether Liberals in the east themselves anticipated such a sweeping victory. Unless some outstanding issue is raised, governments usually are prepared to lose a few seats after a term in office because of sectional differences. But Premier MacDonald's party gained four seats in the voting over the number of seats it held at dissolution. It carried 25 of the 30 seats in the Legislature, with the Conservative representation cut to five. All the cabinet ministers were returned. Liberal majorities generally showed increases over those of last election. Such a victory cannot be considered other than a personal triumph for Premier MacDonald and a tribute to his genius for leadership. As it was a straight fight between the two old-line parties, with no political interlopers such as we had in the last B.C. election to becloud the issues, the results will be viewed with satisfaction in federal Liberal circles.

Lesson In Public Psychology

THERE WAS ADDED INTEREST IN THE outcome of the voting in the five Halifax seats in yesterday's general election in Nova Scotia because of the vigor of the campaign waged against the government by The Halifax Herald.

Premier MacDonald launched into open attacks on the Herald, labelling it as "Nova Scotia's public enemy No. 1." Some persons feared the Premier had made a tactical blunder in thus attacking and arousing against him the bitterness of the most widely circulated newspaper in the Maritimes. However, the results prove the Premier understood his public for he and his four Liberal running mates in the Halifax ridings were returned with large majorities.

There would seem to be a lesson in this for newspapers as well as public men. It is the same lesson that was offered last November in United States when with the big newspapers of the country almost unanimously against him, President Roosevelt and the Democratic party won the most complete victory in the history of United States elections. The public no longer votes as the newspapers say—if it ever did. In fact, in recent years the public has veered around to the point where newspaper attacks on a public man, instead of injuring him with the public, actually build support for him. There is reason to believe that some of our own public men in British Columbia have sensed this apparent anomaly and have not been slow to take advantage of it.

Conquering Disease

ALTHOUGH MEDICAL SCIENCE STILL has many knotty problems to solve, it has at least freed us from some of the perils which beset former generations. An illustration is provided in figures on the death rate from typhoid fever, as compiled currently by the Journal of the American Medical Association. In 78 cities last year, the death rate from typhoid fever was .94 per 100,000 of population. This compares with a death rate of 20.54 per 100,000 of population in 1910.

Here, in other words, we have the record of one dreaded disease which has been conquered. Doctors know exactly what causes typhoid fever and they know exactly how to prevent it. A malady that took thousands of lives yearly, a quarter of a century ago, is now reduced to comparative insignificance.

The figures are a striking testimonial to the advance of medical science.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

VETERAN

FRANZ SPITZ fought for Austria in the war, against the Italians, up in the narrow passes of the Alps. One day an Italian machine gun bullet ripped through the body of the man beside him and almost severed Franz's wrist. He came home here to Vienna with a limp and useless right hand.

For this Franz could thank the monarchy of Austria, whose ultimatum to Serbia started the war. But Franz has forgotten that now, if he ever understood it. As he drives his taxi around Vienna—one of the big, expensive sort, with an 80-groschen motor—Franz bears no grudge against the monarchy. On the contrary, he longs for its return. He awaits impatiently the day when the young Otto will come back to Vienna and restore all the expensive glitter and pomp of royalty.

Franz is a poor man, a typical Austrian working man, and his views, shared by millions of such poor men, may prove important in the inevitable convulsions of Central European politics—important not merely here in this tiny country, but all over the world. Remember, it was the collapse of an Austrian bank which started the world panic of 1931.

"If the emperor comes back," says Franz, "the rich men come back, too. When the Socialists come, all the rich men go out, so we are all poor."

OLD TRADITION

THAT IS the simple economic basis for Franz's devotion to the Hapsburg monarchy. But behind that there is a stronger emotional feeling about royalty that comes down from the days of Charlemagne. Franz and every Viennese loves the pomp of royalty, the gold coaches, the lovely ladies, the gay parties. He remembers them, as a young fellow before the war, and those were great days. And even though Franz saw the last emperor, Charles, many times during the war and found him, "always this way—so drunk," still, he wants another royal master. Young Otto, Charles's son, is waiting up in Belgium and one of these days, maybe in a year, maybe in two, he will return and the old days will come back to Vienna again.

The millions of Austrians like Franz who feel that government is a matter for rich men, for princes of the blood, makes democracy pretty difficult here in the powder keg of Europe—make President Wilson's explanation of the Great War sound especially sad.

They tried democracy in Austria after the war and, asks Franz, what happened? "The Socialists, they made politics and used up all the money." The only good thing they did was to build the huge apartment houses where a working man could get a modern flat for $3 a month. But the flats turned out to be fortresses and then tumbled in the uprising of 1934, and today you can see on their walls the marks of Dr. Dollfuss' machine gun fire. In one apartment house alone 800 working men were killed.

Now, says Franz, the Socialists are quiet. "When the Socialists get enough to eat, they make no politics." Franz is proud that working men can still get flats for $3.50 a month, little more than in Socialist times. He doesn't seem to realize, however, that the flats are still socialized.

THE WEDGE

FRANZ is a monarchist, but no Fascist. At least not a German Fascist, not a Nazi. He remembers that the Nazis took the government offices by surprise one day, chased little Dollfuss out of his cabinet room and murdered him. Now Dollfuss is a legendary figure, of heroic proportions, and his successor makes speeches denouncing German Fascism. That bloody day's work in the cabinet room drove a deep wedge between Austria and her old ally.

The Schonbrunn is Franz's greatest pride, for here monarchy reached its almost gorgeous pre-war bloom. Little Joseph Holzer, who takes you around the endless labyrinth of the palace, feels with Franz that it needs another royal occupant. Joseph was in the war, too, but, unlike Franz, he has a good education and would have been a medical doctor but for the collapse of Austria. Now he is glad to get 10 shillings for a tour of the palace.

TRAGIC FAMILY

HE SHOWS you the golden apartments, the vast ballroom hung with mirrors, the bed chambers with walls of priceless inlaid woods, the simple bed where old Franz Joseph died, the rich pink and blue boudoirs of the Hapsburg ladies—all incredibly vivid and overdone, like the frosting on a wedding cake, and as cloying to the taste. He shows you the 100 royal coaches, each like a huge golden jewel case, the tiny toy coaches of the children, the glittering harness and plumes of the horses.

In his queer broken English Joseph recites the story of the Hapsburgs, a story of almost universal tragedy for themselves and disaster for their country—Mary Antoinette, who sewed little pictures for the walls of her boudoir—Napoleon's son, the King of Rome, who died here in his youth—Rudolph, who was killed with his sweetheart in his hunting lodge—Francis Ferdinand, whose murder with his morganatic wife in a Serbian town started the Great War—Alfonso, of Spain, the last of the Hapsburg kings, an exile.

Still Joseph would like to see the Hapsburgs back, would like to see young Otto holding court in the palace of his ancestors. Yes, it might cost some money, says Joseph, for royalty is expensive. Such palaces as Schonbrunn bled Austria white in the old days. But then, democracy costs money, too. And if there were a king in Schonbrunn it would—what you call it?—maintain the tradition, show that Austria is still independent, a nation, and that, perhaps, would keep the Germans out. Without an emperor Austria, says Joseph, may be swallowed up. With an emperor—who knows? Austria might regain Hungary and its old empire.

On the south side of the palace, overlooking the vast gardens and the pungent-scented linden hedges, is a comfortable apartment, not too ostentatious. It would suit young Otto perfectly.

CENTENARY OF 1837

From Maclean's Magazine

This year marks the centenary of the 1837 Rebellion, led in Upper Canada by William Lyon Mackenzie. To most young Canadians, Mackenzie's place in history is that of the Little I bel whose cause was lost in flight from the country.

Yet it was as a direct result of Mackenzie's persistent fight for reform that responsible government came to Canada, the constitution of which has been copied and adopted by other nations of the Empire, even, to some extent by Britain herself.

This year, at the time of the seventieth anniversary of Confederation, William Lyon Mackenzie's grandson, the present Prime Minister of Canada, is in London attending a conference of the representatives of these same self-governing nations.

They are meeting, as they have met in years past, because changing world conditions have presented new problems which require debate, decision and co-operation.

ONE FOR THE DENTISTS

To the Editor:—Recent medical discoveries prove that the use of dissimilar metals in dental restorative work causes electric currents in the mouth which in turn result in irritation to the mouth.

Dr. Everett S. Lain of the University of Oklahoma's department of medicine was quoted in various medical journals recently as saying that it was his belief that in every mouth in which two or more electrochemically dissimilar restorative metals have been placed a galvanic battery is established which serves as a chronic irritant.

Furthermore, clinical evidence seems to have established definite relationship between oral cancer and the presence of these dissimilar metals in the mouth.

Because of all this, why aren't dentists compelled to use one particular metal alone, such as gold, in all their dental restoration work, as well as in fillings?

CELEBRATION LANDMARKS

To the Editor:—I was interested in the two photographs you published on Saturday night under the heading "Jubilee Landmarks." Well, I might be able to stand those two landmarks but what got my dander up was the fact that the Jubilee Celebrations Committee is planning some more of these monuments. What I would like to know is: "When are we going to have a good time?"

The provincial government gave $25,000 to the city for this jubilee and the City Council voted another $10,000 and all we've had to show for that so far are a couple of landmarks, electric light fittings and some fireworks.

If we had to build a landmark why didn't the jubilee committee put it into an auditorium so that we would have something of service when our 75th birthday is over?

But, personally, I always feel that celebrations call for a good time. We want something to pep the town up and make our visitors feel happy, and, of course, we want to feel carefree ourselves. But May 24 went by without a celebration for the first time in a quarter of a century and what's in the bag for July? More fireworks, but nothing that I can find out that will keep a person in town.

I think the City Council should let us know where this $35,000 is going? If they're going to put more money into landmarks let's call a halt. The city will have to maintain these landmarks after the celebrations are over and that will mean a little more in the way of taxes. When our celebrations are over all we want are pleasant memories.

Want Action In Quebec Divorces

OTTAWA (CP)—Grand Master T. Starr Tait of Saint John, N.B., told interviewers today at the opening session of the 107th annual meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America the time had come to press for action regarding dissolution in Quebec of marriages between protestants and Roman Catholics. The Grand Master said he was tired of seeing resolutions passed which resulted in no action, adding resolutions of protest had been made for the last four years without tangible result. He did not indicate, however, against whom pressure might be brought to bear or what form it might take.

On Friday afternoon at 2.30, a meeting of the Women's Parish Guild will be held in the Guild Room, Christ Church Cathedral, to make final arrangements for the garden party.

Queen Sends Compliments To Women

Congratulates Institutes On Good Work Accomplished

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Alfred Watt, O.B.E., former Canadian who carried the women's institute idea to the Old Country in 1915, has forwarded Queen Mary's message to the Dominion branches. The Queen Mother, with Queen Elizabeth, is joint president of Sandringham Women's Institute in England. For more than 20 years she was its sole president.

Queen Mary's message to members of the Canadian-founded organization reads in part: "I would like to take this opportunity of sending to one and all a word of greeting and congratulations of the good work they have done. I take a great deal of interest in the movement, not only in Great Britain but throughout the Empire. I am well aware how much the institutes have already done towards improving conditions for women in rural areas; how they have made for better citizenship, happier homes and good neighborliness."

"I hope this spirit of mutual help and good-will will be extended to the countrywomen of all lands, for wherever countrywomen are organized they work for the great human causes along the true paths of progress. I would like to add I am much interested in the women's institute at Sandringham and attend the afternoons as often as I can."

Eighteen Children In Nineteen Years

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Arthur Timleck, one of six Toronto mothers in the Millar "stork derby" gave birth today to her eighteenth child in 19 years, a boy. The time limit for eligible births under the $500,000 will of the late Charles Vance Millar expired last October 31.

"Packing" a Baby

Lost in antiquity is the origin of the custom which this Spankenburg, Holland, mother is following as she "bundles" her baby up like a mummy on the 10th day after its birth. Frowned on by the village doctor, the custom of "packing the baby" continues with each birth—although no one knows why.

Pectin, used in jelly making, is also finding use in mullage, shaving cream and cheese making.

Flowers Fill Church For Wedding

Miss Louise Patterson
Bride Of
Robert A. Foulis

In a setting of fragrant summer flowers, a marriage service was performed yesterday evening at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church when Louise Hillary, only daughter of Rev. J. S. Patterson and Mrs. Patterson of Lake Hill became the bride of Mr. Robert Ainslie Foulis, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foulis of Esquimalt. The bride's father conducted the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Samuel Lundie, Sooke, and Rev. J. Mackie Niven. Mr. Jesse Longfield presided at the organ, and as the register was being signed, Mr. Arthur Jackman sang "For You Alone."

The bride, who entered the church with her elder brother, Mr. Harvey N. Patterson, who also gave her away, was attended by four bridesmaids, and they made a charming picture in their pastel-shaded frocks. The bride's gown of ivory satin over shell pink was cut in princess lines with a full train, and had a cowl neck and long bishop's sleeves tapering to a point over the wrists, and was ornamented with a pearl buckle and clips. Her long embroidered veil was worn beneath a Tudor tiara of pearls, and was caught at the nape of her neck with a strand of orange blossoms, with a cluster falling at each side of her head. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids, roses and sweet peas.

Miss Muriel Richards, the maid of honor, wore a redingote frock of yellow marquisette over satin, with leg o' mutton sleeves caught at the wrists with wreaths of pastel-shaded flowers, which also adorned the round neckline. Miss Doris LePage, in green point d'esprit over peach satin; Miss Margaret Peddle, in blue over pink, and Miss Dorothy Baxandall in pink over blue, were the bridesmaids. Their redingotes were all trimmed with three rows of point d'esprit on flaring skirts, and were trimmed at the neck and wrists with pastel flowers. All four wore veils of tulle beneath coronets of flowers tied with ribbon streamers at the back in hues to match their frocks, lace mittens and carried Colonial bouquets of flowers in rainbow shades.

Mr. Jack G. Patterson, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Maurice J. Davies, Mr. W. G. Powell and Mr. Wayne Butler.

LOVELY DECORATIONS

The decorations in the church were the handiwork of a bevy of girl friends of the bride. During the ceremony, the bride and groom stood beneath a white arch studded with roses, between tall white baskets filled with delphiniums, Canterbury bells, pink peonies and yellow iris, which were flanked with two tall standards each holding seven lighted tapers. Baskets of the same blooms stood on the pulpit, and on the window ledges were arranged fragrant roses and syringa. Yellow rosebuds tied with bows of white tulle marked the guest pews.

Rev. and Mrs. Patterson entertained a large number of friends later at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. The guests were received in the private dining-room, and greeted the bride and groom, who stood in front of a bank of spirea, blue delphiniums and Canterbury bells. Supper was served in the main dining-room, where the same color scheme was carried out in the floral decorations. The three-tiered cake centred the bride's table, which was covered with a drawn-thread cloth, and stood between tall white tapers in silver holders, and vases of spirea and pinks.

Mrs. Patterson wore a French model lace gown in the new thistle shade, with a navy blue hat, and shoes, and a corsage bouquet of white orchids, and Mrs. Foulis was in an imported black lace frock and a pink picture hat, and wore a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds.

After their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Foulis will reside in Quessnel. For traveling the bride chose a frock of thistle silk, a French hat to match and beige accessories, with which she wore a brown Alaskan seal coat.

Among the many handsome gifts received by the popular young couple were a silver tea service from the groom's associates in the Quessnel branch of Macdonald's Consolidated Ltd., of which he is assistant manager; a coffee table from the Quessnel Golf Club; a chest of flat silver and sugar and cream set, from the staff of the Dominion Experimental Station, Sidney, of which the bride had been a member for seven years, and a tri-lite standard lamp from the pathological department of the station. Knox Presbyterian Church presented the bride with a set of pyrex dishes; from the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, she received a silver entree dish, and from her bridge club a silver rose bowl.

President's Son Wed Today

Famous Families
United In Simple Ceremony

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The story book romance of Ethel du Pont and Franklin Roosevelt Jr. reached its climax today in the flower-banked chancel of a simple country church.

The wedding ceremony which united the two members of two of the country's most famous and powerful families was performed at 1 p.m. (P.S.T.).

It made President Roosevelt, cabinet members and heads of the Du Pont clan mere spectators, taking a back seat for two youngsters in love.

The President, with Mrs. Roosevelt, arrived from Washington about noon. Arrangements were made for his train to stand at a country station while he went first on a round of social functions and then to rustic Christ Church.

The church, a Du Pont property in a countryside covered with estates of members of that family. That area, just north of Wilmington, was the scene of all today's events.

State police guarded the strategic highways and lanes and a detachment of regular army soldiers moved in from Fort Du Pont to keep watchful eyes on the scene while the President was about.

The bridal couple began the day already rehearsed in their lines and well showered with attentions that ranged from hundreds of simple gifts to elaborate parties, the last of which was last night.

Their schedule included: A bridal party luncheon at which all members of the immediate families would meet for the first time.

The brief single-ring Episcopal wedding ceremony, with 342 guests invited. This was performed by the rector, Rev. Frederick Ashton, who christened Ethel, and by Rev. Endicott Peabody of Groton School, Mass., who has married two other Roosevelt sons, Elliott and James.

A reception for 1,300 guests by the bride's parents, and last, the dash for a mysterious honeymoon destination.

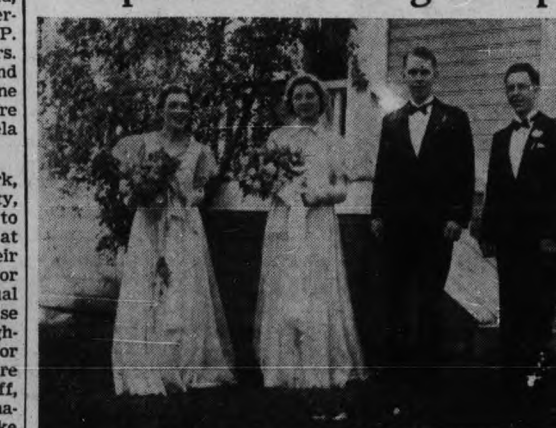

given in honor of Miss Thelma Ostler, whose marriage to Mr. Ronald Reid will take place in July. The gifts were concealed in a large clothes basket beautifully decorated with mauve and yellow crepe paper, surmounted by a miniature bride and groom set amongst sprays of real orange blossoms. The reception rooms were decorated in mauve and yellow. The supper table was covered with a lace cloth over mauve, centred with a silver basket of pale yellow columbines and yellow tapers in silver holders. During the evening court whist was played, Mrs. L. Woodhouse winning first prize and Mrs. Renfree, consolation. The guests were Mrs. M. Morry, Mrs. P. Shandley, Mrs. B. Reid, Mrs. L. Ostler, Mrs. P. Humber, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. W. Miller, Mrs. J. Renfree, Mrs. H. McDougall, Mrs. J. Kingscote, Mrs. E. Bissenden, Mrs. A. Maysmith, Mrs. C. Wilson, Mrs. E. Carter, Mrs. A. Harper, Mrs. L. Fine weather and a good attendance of generous patrons ensured success for the garden party held yesterday afternoon in the delightful garden of Mrs. G. P. Clarke, 1074 Munro Street, under the auspices of the Esquimalt Guide Committee. Over $40 was netted for the Guide campsite.

On arrival, the guests of honor, Lady Barnard, Mrs. Alan Morkill, provincial commissioner, and Mrs. F. W. Midgley, district commissioner, with the hostess, Mrs. Clark, were led into a Brownie ring by four small Brownies and there presented with fragrant colonial bouquets. They were also honored with a grand salute from the pack.

The Esquimalt Guides, under their lieutenant, Mrs. Joan Lowndes, showed their proficiency in first aid in staging an amusing episode in which a runaway horse, impersonated by two guides, caused many injuries, calling for various types of bandaging and stretcher practice. Two humorous songs with action by the Esquimalt Brownies were much enjoyed.

Tea was served in the orchard, Mrs. W. E. A. Barclay, the convener, being assisted by Mrs. Archer and the guides. Mrs. A. Lockley at the home-cooking stall was assisted by Mrs. T. W. Allen and Mrs. Bishop. The Brownies with the assistance of the Brown Owl, Mrs. R. P. Matheson and Mrs. Pecknold sold candles. A gold digging contest was run by the guides.

Mrs. Mossop and Mrs. Carter were the fortune-tellers. Mrs. Bischlager was the winner of the cake contest and Mrs. T. Allan was the lucky gold-digger.

Pupils Heard In Recital

Last evening, in her studio, 1271 Mackenzie Street, Miss Marie George held a piano recital in which her pupils of the junior and advanced grades showed the progress they had made in the past year. A large number of parents and friends attended. The rooms were beautifully decorated with quantities of roses and other summer flowers. Miss George was assisted by her mother in receiving their guests. An added attraction to the well-chosen programme was the singing of a group of songs by Miss M. Child, who chose "Spring's Triumph Homing" and a ballad of Chauncy Olcott.

KEPT FROM HIS SHIP BY SCIATICA

Sailor Who Could Hardly Walk for Pain

"I am a seaman," he writes, "and have travelled all over the world in sailing ships. Some time ago I was taken bad with sciatica and rheumatism. If I went out I had to rest two or three times before I got home. One day an old mate of mine asked me what was the matter, and he said, 'get some Kruschen Salts.' So I got some and I am pleased to say I felt a great ease. After continuing for a week, I was a great deal better and on the Saturday I was back on my ship."—T.R.W.

The pains of rheumatism and sciatica are frequently caused by too much uric acid accumulating in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid and other ingredients of these salts assist the internal organs to eliminate the dissolved uric acid from the system.

One of the younger rising stars of Hollywood, slim, dark Rochelle Hudson, paused in Victoria for tea yesterday afternoon on her way from Vancouver to Seattle. She is returning to Hollywood in answer to a hurry call from her studio.

The vivid scarlet bandeau around her head and her simple beige dress showed off her dark hair and tanned complexion as she sat at tea in the rotunda of the Empress Hotel with her mother, Mrs. Mae Hudson.

They drove up the Coast through Portland to British Columbia, and had hoped to stay off for some days in Victoria.

"I was going down to a ranch in western Washington near the coast to do some riding and fishing, but I got a long-distance call from Hollywood last night, and we are going to drive straight down," Rochelle explained.

"They wanted me to be down there by Sunday, but I'm not going to travel as fast as that. It's too tiring," she said. Miss Hudson drives her own car, and enjoys doing it on long trips provided she can take her time.

The hurry call came from Twentieth Century, to whom she is under contract, and was to tell her she had been loaned to Republic. "It always happens when you get farthest away," she laughed.

STROLL THROUGH STREETS

Rochelle has been in Victoria before, but it was many years ago, she said. She was impressed with the beauty of the journey by ship from Vancouver to Victoria, and with what she had seen

"Don't wish me many long years of happiness. I always tell my friends on my birthday just to wish me another year's happiness and in that way I just enjoy my life from year to year." Such is the philosophy of Mrs. Margaret Post, 2570 Graham Street, who will be ninety-six years old tomorrow, when she replied to birthday greetings extended by a Times reporter today. She is shown in the above picture in the garden of her son's home.

As one of the oldest persons in Victoria, Mrs. Post has witnessed a multitude of changes in the world since she was born in Richmond, Ontario, in 1841. But the fast-changing world never bothers her.

"I have always lived a quiet life ever since the days of my childhood when I was a frail girl. I have been through many sicknesses during my life and more than once I nearly went. But," she continued with a smile, "I am still here although it may only be for another year."

Mrs. Post, who resides with her only living son, Charles Post, does not attribute her long life to any particular habits of life. She does not come from a line of elderly people, practically all her ancestors having succumbed in their fifties.

EATS HEARTILY

"But I eat well and hearty still and seldom miss a meal," she added.

"And how she can tuck away the strawberry shortcake," interrupted her daughter-in-law.

"Yes, if there is one thing that I am fond of it's strawberry shortcake," was Mrs. Post's reply.

To celebrate her ninety-sixth birthday tomorrow Mrs. Post is planning a motor trip to Lake Cowichan with her son and his family. She is always very active, although the loss of sight six years ago forced her to forsake her regular visits to town. Such an affliction as this she regards as the greatest tragedy that can overtake anyone.

"If a person is deaf or without speech they can make themselves understood or get something to aid them, but there is nothing which helps anyone who cannot see," she said.

Mrs. Post came to Victoria in 1890 from Belleville, Ont. Since her arrival here she has been only twice to Vancouver and once to Seattle.

As a girl of twenty-four, Mrs. Post suffered an attack of pneumonia and appendicitis at the same time. She believes the west has aided her health.

Mrs. Post is a regular attendant at Metropolitan United Church when weather permits and during her life she has always been interested in the cause of temperance.

She is a staunch believer in the axiom of "early to bed and early to rise," and goes to bed about 9:30 and gets up between 7 and 7:30.

"But there are times when I stay up till midnight and sometimes a good deal later," she added.

of the city during a walk through the business section before tea.

Both she and her mother wore dark glasses during their stroll through the city, and few recognized them.

She got her start in pictures when she was 13 years old, she said, and has never regretted her career, although she remembers a few very bad moments. One of them was during the making of "Way Down East." It was filmed in exceptionally hot midsummer weather, and she had to wear a voluminous period costume, with the result that she almost collapsed with the heat and was tempted to throw up the whole business.

She has never played on the legitimate stage, and has never thought about it one way or the other. "I have been too busy doing what I have been doing to

During the evening dancing and games were enjoyed, and at midnight a buffet supper was served. Those present were the Misses Flo Robertson, Anna Peden, Audrey Morrison, Donnie Proby, Edna Donaldson, Doris, Eva and Shirley Anne Mason, and Messrs. Tom Carney, Ron Edmonds, Fred Smith, "Porky" Andrews, Harold Maclean and Bill Noel.

Miss Phyllis Sutton, whose marriage will take place shortly, was recently the guest of honor at a tea arranged by the staffs have any idea that I wanted a change," she said laughingly.

As she ate cake and buttered toast with what appeared to be a fairly good appetite, Miss Hudson explained that British actors in Hollywood had introduced her to the afternoon tea habit, and she thought it was an excellent one.

When Billy Tickle struck up with his regular afternoon violin music she remarked: "I feel like doing my flower dance," and explained "It was a pretty little schoolgirl chorus."

of Esquimalt Elementary School and High School. Pink stocks and snapdragons made an attractive centre for the tea table which was presided over by Mrs. H. W. Creelman and Mrs. A. Hutchinson. Mrs. S. Hanna and Mrs. C. Kelly assisted with the serving and Miss N. Hewlings cut the ices. In expressing their regret at the loss of an associate and in extending good wishes to her for the future, Mr. H. H. Creelman presented Miss Sutton with a beautiful silver tea and coffee service.

An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett, 1025 Clare Street, on Monday, the occasion being the twenty-first birthday of Mr. Dudley Keeler, for whom a surprise party was arranged. Court whist and dancing were enjoyed, the prize winners being Miss Mary Hickman, Miss Alma Keeler, Mr. George Bennett and Mr. Bruce Blay. A sit-down supper was served, a beautifully decorated birthday cake holding the place of honor on the table. After supper Mr. Bennett presented Mr. Keeler, on behalf of his friends, with a silver cigarette box suitably engraved. Those present were Mrs. Keeler, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dorman, "Logie Lea," Newport Avenue, in honor of Miss Margaret Jones, whose marriage to Mr. Horace Miller will take place on July 31. The gifts were concealed in a hat box, which was surmounted by a doll dressed in a pink and blue crinoline, the voluminous skirts falling over the box. The supper table was centred with pink and white roses, and a three-tier ice cream "wedding" cake held the place of honor. The guests were Mrs. S. Jones, Sr., Mrs. H. W. Miller, Mrs. O. H. HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1937
As the month begins aspects are adverse, according to astrology. Under this planetary configuration there may be extraordinary influences which contribute to growing unrest among persons in many walks of life.

Intrigue and deception are believed to be encouraged by the configuration which seems to reveal portents of naval movements.

Workers of many sorts may be affected by lassitude and lack of interest in their tasks due to adverse suggestion of labor organizers.

Vagaries of weather may be expected this month. Extreme heat will affect most unfavorably the health of young children.

Women should conserve their strength, physical and mental. Many will be unusually sensitive to the sun.

For summer students a good sign prevails. It is foretold that there will be great demand for trained minds and skilled hands.

The evening of this day is auspicious for conferences and meetings at which public affairs and subjects of general interest are discussed.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of perplexities which past experiences and future prospects have great weight. Money to meet pressing conditions will be obtainable by business men.

Children born on this day probably will be of serious, prudent nature. Subjects of this sign of Cancer usually are earnest students and capable of fine achievement.

Albert Bushnell Hart, scholar and historian, was born on this day, 1864. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Sir Robert Blandell Hall, a statesman, 1840, and Louis Joseph Vendome, French general, 1654.

FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1937
Again evil portents are discerned by astrologers. This is read as an unfortunate day for buying and lending.

Uncertainty regarding finance will affect the markets of the world, which will be influenced by government policies regarding gold and silver.

This is not an auspicious way under which to launch any important enterprise except any which concerns women's apparel or household furnishings.

The day is a sign that is encouraging mild flirtations and lepid love affairs. As the summer wanes, however, there will be many serious romances.

ANDREW and IMOGENE

By ROE FULKERSON

"Andrew, I'm worried about Betty Jo," said Imogene seriously. "What's the matter with her?" asked Andrew anxiously.

"Nothing right now," reassured Imogene.

"Measles or chicken-pox broken out in the nursery school?" asked Andrew. "She is really not learning anything there anyhow, except how to play with other children, so it doesn't matter if we take her out."

"Oh, nothing like that!" said Imogene, waving her hand.

"She isn't quite four years old, and we only need worry about her body, not her mind," said Andrew.

"Don't be silly. The baby is healthy and happy and has never had a sick day since she was born. She is quite normal mentally, also, except that she is brighter than the average child of her age."

"Naturally," said Andrew. "She takes after her father's family."

"Please don't joke," said Imogene. "I am looking far ahead for her. Mothers must do that for their daughters. It is my job as a mother to anticipate, rather than regret, the things which happen to my daughter."

"Our daughter," corrected Andrew.

"If I had a son, he would be our son," said Imogene, but as long as our only child is a daughter, and you know so little of the problems which face a girl child, she must be my daughter."

"All right, then. I contribute my half of the anticipation of trouble to you. You may shoulder the entire responsibility. What are you worrying about now?"

"Betty Jo's marriage," explained Imogene.

"You needn't," said Andrew. "I have saved up a little money. When the time comes, I will pay for the church, the reception and whatever else it is which is wished on the father of the bride."

"Andrew, I want you to take the future of our daughter seriously. I must of necessity think ahead for her. I feel—"

"Darling, don't worry," said Andrew. "Whatever you feel now, you will feel differently about when she is six. When she is 12, you will change your mind again, and still again when she is 16."

"I don't want her to marry a boy whose father has a lot of money," said Imogene.

"I know of no way to get money so easily as to have papa die and leave it to you," said Andrew. "I cannot help but feel that if my father had saved more money for me to spend, I would have had more fun out of life."

"That's just it," said Imogene. "I want her to marry some struggling young man and help him struggle. I want her to marry a boy who has just got his foot on the lowest rung of the ladder of life, instead of marrying a boy whose father started him at the top of the ladder, and let him no place to go except down."

"The most fun I ever had in my life was when we bought that first house on the installment plan and saved every day so we could pay off two monthly notes at once instead of one. The biggest times we ever had, we had when we could afford only a two-week vacation at some cheap resort and had to crowd so much fun into every hour of those two weeks that we had no time to sleep."

"I don't want my daughter to miss the fun of moving up the ladder of success, instead of starting at the top and climbing down. The road down is full of sadness and woe; the climb up is full of fun and frolic. Even if we never reach the top, we both have enjoyed the struggle. It put our shoulders and hearts closer together. A slip from the top of the ladder is bound to result in woe and lamentations, a blaming of one party by the other, and a steady loss of love and joy of living."

"Darling, you are right on every specification! If a wealthy boy comes around here wanting to marry our daughter, I will advocate his cause, and if a poor boy comes along, I will oppose him."

"You mean just the opposite, don't you?"

"I mean exactly what I said. Nothing in the world so encourages a girl to marry a man as having her parents oppose the match."

Calling All Dogs!

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

Ever Visit a Dogpound?

Did you ever visit a dogpound? If not, go through one, some time. You don't enjoy the experience—though modern pounds are far better managed than were the horrible pounds of my own youth—but it is a part of your humane education.

It is, 100 per cent, a Place of Hopelessness. Yet it is a wholly necessary evil. But for dogpounds, the streets and the whole countryside would be overrun with stray dogs, causing much danger. What is to be done about it? Well, a whole lot of things could be done. That doesn't mean they will be done. For instance:

We preach eugenics and sterilization among humans, where they cannot possibly be practiced. We ignore them among dogs, where they could be practiced easily and mercifully. We penalize humans who turn some child adrift. We have no laws penalizing people who turn adrift the pet dogs they no longer want. We force people to be responsible, legally, for the humans whose support they have undertaken. We let them abandon the dogs for whose welfare they are morally responsible.

Until such evils can be corrected, the dog pound is needed! It is up to us to decide whether or not it shall keep on being a hideous necessity. How about it?

HEALTH CAMPAIGN

VANCOUVER—Final arrangements for Vancouver's health drive in restaurants have been made by Dr. J. W. McIntosh, city medical health officer. School doctors will be pressed into the regular inspection staff surveying health conditions in all eating houses.

In a recent survey, dentists rated the professional cleaning of teeth as the most vital work they do, because of its importance in preventing dental troubles.

Letters to the Editor

THINKS SAANICH SHOULD PAY MORE

To the Editor:—I see Saanich complains municipal employees may have to be laid off when the new government scale of wages goes into effect next month.

What's wrong with 75 cents an hour for a skilled man? Any municipality that cannot pay a decent wage should fold up, go out of business. It's a matter for shame among ratepayers that the school carpenter's wages were cut from 60 cents an hour to 35 cents, and janitor's wages to the magnificent sum of $15 a month.

ARTHUR THOMPSON, Colwood.

URGES DISCRETION

To the Editor:—I have read with interest numerous letters on the subject of the Young Citizens' League. If there is a corresponding amount of sincerity, the aims of the league, such as defending democracy, appears to be praiseworthy, but on the other hand, if the "educational material" issued by the league is all of the level of the letters appearing in these columns, then I despair of the league ever really accomplishing anything. The chief characteristic of one of these young writers appears to be ability at exaggeration and the distortion of facts, which has resulted in him getting into "hot water" on more than one occasion. Discretion and consistency are two great assets for the success of any propagandist, both of which he has shown himself to lack.

ROYAL OAK.

THANKS FROM METCHOSIN

To the Editor:—May I, through The Victoria Times, express my thanks to the many workers who campaigned on my behalf in Esquimalt during the provincial election, which unfortunately did not terminate in the victory so confidently expected.

It is not possible for us to quite understand the reason for the failure to win the confidence of the electorate of Esquimalt, who again proved by their vote that they are out of sympathy with the policies of the Pattullo government and the island development plans of myself and the group working with me.

However, my congratulations are due Mr. Finland for his success under the able guidance and management of Mr. R. H. Pooley, K.C., who put on a real old-time campaign fight.

C. E. WHITNEY-GRIFFITHS, Liberal Candidate Esquimalt Riding.

THERE WITH OUR CHILDREN

To the Editor:—People read with interest the articles from Canadian students who attended the Coronation in London. The press and the radio help us understand the journey of these students across Canada and the Atlantic to London, where they with millions of other cheered lustily and shouted, "We want our King," so long that he appeared for the fourth time in the balcony of Buckingham Palace.

Then there was more sight-seeing, parks, wax-works, Trafalgar Square, British Museum, Empire service of youth in Westminster Abbey, where they sat in seats previously occupied by titled folk, and the crowning event of all came when these Canadian students were received by Queen Mary at Marlborough House, a thousand treasure thrills a proud priceless privilege!

We Canadians all attended the Coronation. The children went and we followed them. We joined the throngs of a mighty Empire on, on, and ever on, through cheering crowded streets, soldiers, sailors, bands, Highlanders and Canadian Mounties.

In the silence of a hushed Abbey we saw the young King take the "burden which rests on the shoulders of a sovereign," knew it would be lightened somewhat by his Queen and those near to him. We came back with our hearts bound more closely to that of the Empire, to us, too, a thousand treasured thrills, a proud priceless privilege!

CANADIAN MOTHER.

SKYLARKS OVER MARIGOLD

To the Editor:—Uplands is not the only home of the skylark in Victoria. They can be heard singing to beat the band over the Marigold Flats. Take the bus line to Warren Avenue. The bus company would fill a further useful public service by decorating this bus with sky-blue effect and well executed drawing of this interesting bird.

The name of this car could be "The Skylark Express."

Early mornings and the evenings are perhaps the best times to see and hear these songsters. They can be quite easily identified soaring up into the heavens wings all a flutter and so happy. At least they appear so, and we have no reason to doubt them.

Lovely Cameron Lake Provides Ideal Holiday

Mountain Resort Is Mecca For Many Vacationists

Summer life on Vancouver Island centres in many instances around its lakes ranging from the larger ones that mark the island highways to small, unnamed and almost unknown lakes in the northern hinterland. This search for good fishing, swimming and boating leads many a summer vacationist to the chalet-bungalow resort called The Chalet at Cameron Lake on the great Alberni highway, not so many miles from Parksville. Within easy reach of the bigger centres of Vancouver Island, this resort combines home comforts with holiday attractions of the great outdoors.

Cameron Lake is situated in the very heart of the hills in the Alberni chain of mountains. Famous Mount Arrowsmith, the highest peak on the island, lies close beside it, and just beyond, on the highway to Alberni is the silent beauty of Cathedral Grove where a splendid stand of Douglas fir rises straight and tall; where sunlight slants in fitting splendor over the lacy fronds of the fern. There is the Cameron River, too, rushing down through rocky canyons or slipping easily into deep pools under the shadow of overhanging willows. It is all a rugged country, far removed from the glare and smoke of the city, unspoiled by the hand of man, untouched by civilization.

Following the little road that bends away from the highway down through the shadow of the big trees, over a rustic bridge and up a steep slope to the grounds of The Chalet, there is a peaceful sense of having found a spot to relax, to breathe slowly and deeply, to really enjoy a great outdoors. The rambling bungalow-like resort looks down from its hillside situation to the still waters of the lake, and beyond to the brooding beauty of cliffs, tree-clad slopes and to the far distant glimpses of higher mountains.

Life flows easily at The Chalet. There is a pretty dining-room that provides a dainty service and delicious food, a spacious veranda with easy chairs which invite rest and relaxation and a lounge with chintz-covered couches and chairs, where bridge and other amusements provide many a pleasant evening in the cosy glow of the huge fireplace.

sport, of course. Cameron Lake and the surrounding rivers and streams provide plenty of excitement for ardent fishermen. Few parties fail to make a good catch.

Mr. George Woollett, the proprietor of The Chalet, was for many years chief steward in the B.C. Coast service. His great experience in meeting and serving the public is helping him now in making of Cameron Lake a perfect mountain resort that once visited will be returned to again and yet again.

Royston Beach Always Popular

Whatever one does in the summer, vacation time should be a care-free healthful period of happy days. Because of the variety of fun it offers the little town of Royston, right on the island highway near Courtenay, is a place to remember when planning a holiday. It is so close to the city, yet far enough removed that all the beauty of an out-of-door vacation, right beside the sea, can be experienced. The view is exceptionally fine. Lying as it does just opposite the smiling valley of the Comox, miles of shoreline are visible, dotted here and there by tiny islands. On clear days the gleaming splendor of mountains far away on the mainland can be seen.

From Royston, trips can be made to many points of interest on northern Vancouver Island. The Forbidden Plateau, that hinterland of fascination and mystery, lies within a few short miles of this tiny summer resort. Campbell River, Elk Falls and Forbes Landing are all within a day's excursion. All this for an outdoor holiday, combined with dancing, tennis, riding, swimming fishing and boating. What more could a vacation seeker wish for? To make it even better Royston is only a short half hour run from the cities of Cumberland and Courtenay.

The Royston Beach Auto Camp, owned and operated by Mr. H. B. Marvin, is clean, modern and up to date in every way. The pretty green and white cottages and cabins stand in a long row, under the shadow of great maple trees. At this camp one finds everything that makes for a perfect holiday, even to bed-

Canadian Club Holds Annual Meeting; Coronation Films Shown

Col. H. T. Goodland and Frank J. Sehl were unanimously re-elected president and secretary respectively yesterday evening at the annual meeting of the Canadian Club of Victoria, held at the Empress Hotel.

With about 100 of its 337 members present, the club returned en bloc its 1936 executive board, and heard reports of the president, treasurer and delegates to the Regional Council of B.C., besides seeing several films in color of the Coronation and other recent events, photographed by R. H. B. Ker.

The reinstated executive board includes His Honor Eric W. Hamber, honorary president; J. W. Hudson, first vice-president; T. W. S. Parsons, second vice-president; P. B. Fowler, treasurer; F. M. McGregor, literary secretary, and a committee composed of Herbert Anson, John Cochrane, Kenneth Ferguson, C. H. French, F. J. D. Pemberton, Col. Lennox Irving, Kenneth C. Drury and W. B. Lambert. George McCandless was elected auditor.

Col. Goodland thanked his fellow officers for their splendid cooperation in the last year, and especially commended Frank Sehl, who was entering his thirtieth year as secretary of the organization. He also thanked the nominating committee for its work.

Reporting for the executive committee, Col. Goodland listed the guests at the 13 luncheons and dinner held by the club during the last year, illustrating the remarkable results achieved by the speakers committee, John Cochrane and Kenneth Ferguson.

The average attendance at functions during the year had increased, he said, and it was expected that further improvement would be shown this year.

SOUND IDEALS
The Canadian Club had a common purpose in the promotion of sound Canadian ideals, a better understanding among the people, a love of Canada, and an appreciation of the country's place in the British Commonwealth of Nations, Col. Goodland said.

He reported 50 new members had been enrolled since the last annual meeting, and an active campaign for members was planned immediately.

P. B. Fowler, treasurer, reported for the delegates to the Regional Council meeting in Vernon last Wednesday, which was attended by representatives of nearly 20 branches of the Canadian Club. Resumes of the work of each club were given by the representatives. The council was formed six years ago by the Victoria and Vancouver clubs to supply speakers for the clubs in rural districts, Mr. Fowler explained.

Following a suggestion by the president that an effort should be made to interest more young men in the Canadian Club, L. Crease made a motion that a committee be formed to discuss what could be done to enroll young members. Mr. Crease also moved that the executive board discuss ways and

Local Boy in Oxford Group Youth Movement

CIVIC MATTERS ARE DISCUSSED

The proposal that a Greater Victoria be formed, taking in the city and the three adjacent municipalities, was discussed at an executive meeting of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association in the City Hall yesterday evening. Because of the importance of the matter, members present felt a full attendance of the executive should be consulted so further discussion was adjourned until the next meeting.

A report on the progress of a resolution forwarded to the City Council from an executive meeting held in March regarding the establishment of a wharf for fishing boats in the Inner Harbor was made.

It was stated the matter had been undertaken by Alderman W. T. Straith and that good progress had been made and the wharf was practically assured.

The city relief situation was briefly touched on and some members of the executive thought certain aspects of it were going too far. They felt that some unfairness was developing.

A letter was read from John Dean regretting he was unable to attend the meeting because of failing health and give a talk on taxation. A written address on taxation was compiled by him in pamphlet form pointing out the disastrous effect on real property owners due to the adoption of the unsound doctrine of single tax, namely, exemption of improvements.

A liberal supply of these pamphlets was handed to the association for free distribution and their disposal was put in the hands of the membership committee. A resolution of appreciation was extended to Mr. Dean by the executive.

There will be no executive meetings during July and August unless by special call of the chairman.

Metchisin Plants Windsor Oak Tree

Residents of the Metchisin and surrounding districts assembled on Friday evening last at St. Mary's churchyard to witness the ceremony, sponsored by the Metchisin Farmers' Institute, of planting an oak tree from the Royal Park at Windsor, England, in commemoration of the Coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Chas. H. Helgeson, president of the institute, opened the proceedings, and in a few words introduced Rev. W. C. Gemmill, who conducted a short service during which the district choir, under the leadership of Mrs. W. L. Whitney-Griffiths, sang "O Canada," "Jerusalem" and "Fight the Good Fight."

The tree was planted by William Witty, an old resident and pioneer of the district, whose father in 1872 gave the land on which the church now stands, and also the land used as a cemetery adjoining.

Following the planting of the tree Rev. W. C. Gemmill presented to each child attending the Metchisin and Albert Head Schools a Coronation cup donated by the trustees of the schools.

An illustrated lecture on seed growing was given later by P. J. James of Duncan in the Community Hall. Interesting moving pictures were shown by Mr. Phillips, through the courtesy of the Department of Agriculture of the province. The proceedings terminated by refreshments being served by the ladies of the institute.

Malvern House Marks Year End

Malvern House School closed a successful year with its annual sports and prize-giving on Saturday.

The sports were held at the school's playing fields before a large gathering of parents and friends. After the sports all adjourned to St. Matthias Church Hall for tea and prize-giving.

T. P. Emmerson, headmaster, thanked the parents, donors of cups and the old boys, all of whom had helped to make the afternoon an enjoyable one.

Rev. Alan Gardiner spoke briefly to the parents and boys. He congratulated the headmaster on the steady growth of Malvern House, and expressed his hopes for continuance of its well-deserved success.

Speaking to the boys, he based his remarks on the implications of the school motto: "This Through Merit."

Mrs. R. H. B. Ker presented the prizes.

A pleasant and successful afternoon was closed by the head boy calling for three cheers for Mrs. Ker.

Prize-winners were: Proficiency—Form 1, G. Hamill; Form 2 (tie), D. Ker and M. White; Form 3, B. Lukes; Form 4, S. Vye; Form 5, J. Walls minor; Form 1, Upper, A. Nelson; Form 2, upper, J. Walls major.

Island and Mainland Militia Units Go Under Canvas Tonight

Between 1,000 and 1,200 officers and men, drawn from all the units of the Non-Permanent Active Militia of Canada on Vancouver Island and in the Vancouver area, will be under canvas at Sidney tonight for their annual camp.

Brigadier D. J. McDonald, O.C. Military District No. 11, will be in personal command of the camp, located on Beacon Avenue on the outskirts of the town.

Advance parties were at work this morning preparing for the arrival of the contingents this evening.

The veteran B.C. Coast Service steamer Princess Victoria is to bring the mainland units right to the Sidney dock.

The camp will continue until Monday morning, and will include tactical manoeuvres, brigade and battalion parades, and technical training for the specialist groups.

Vancouver Island will be represented by the First Battalion, the Canadian Scottish Regiment, Victoria; the Second (Machine Gun) Battalion of the Scottish from up-island points, the Sixth Divisional Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and 13th Field Ambulance, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps.

Mainland units participating in

The camp will be the type in British Columbia since the Canadian army reorganization at the beginning of the year, and will give the units experience in the new set-up.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blocks up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to make those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of catalyst but have no alcohol or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Good Old Chum, cool and fragrant—how it settles a man down to his work when he's under high pressure—how refreshing it is, what a happy flavour! Truly, "there is no other tobacco just like Old Chum". HENLEY - ON - THAMES, Eng.—Johnny Coulson made his opening bid for the classic Diamond Sculls a winning one today by beating C. A. Christiansen of Norway as the Royal Henley Regatta opened, but Toronto's other entrant, Chuck Campbell, was eliminated by P. H. Jackson of England.

Noel J. de Mille of Vancouver, now rowing for the Reading Boat Club of England, also met defeat in his preliminary heat, before the strong stroking of J. Hasenohrl of Austria. The European star won easily in 9 minutes 16 seconds.

Coulson, wearing the Argonaut Club pennant, pulled into an early lead over his Norwegian opponent and won impressively by three lengths. His time for the mile and 40 yards course was given as 7 minutes 26 seconds.

Campbell, member of the Don Rowing Club, who financed the trip to England himself to make his first challenge for the emblem of amateur sculling supremacy, was beaten by two and a half lengths. Jackson's time was 9 minutes 11 seconds.

Coulson will go in to tomorrow's second round of elimination heats along with today's other winners.

B.C. Track Meet Here On Saturday

Leading Athletes Will Take Part in Events at Macdonald Park

Dotted with British Empire games and Canadian Olympic champions, a galaxy of stars representing British Columbia's finest track and field talent, will be seen in action on Saturday afternoon at Macdonald Park when British Columbia track and field titles will be at stake.

What the meet may lack in quantity due to a not exceptionally large entry, it will make up in quality with such stars as the Haley brothers, from Trail, Vancouver's "flying cop," Jack Harrison; Ralph Thomas, former University of British Columbia sprinter; Wilmer Van Norman of Duncan; Ed Burritt, mainland star pole vaulter; Victoria's Joe Addison, Bill Dale and Paul Rowe competing.

Archie McKinnon, local Y.M.C.A. track and field coach, is filling the entries as fast as they come in, and predicts one of the keenest British Columbia track and field championship meets since the inauguration of the annual event.

OTHER ENTRIES

In addition to the above mentioned stars who are only too well known in Dominion running circles, Vancouver will be represented by Bob Waters, British Empire weight man, who also handles the discus and javelin to no mean extent; Jack Fraser, who usually teams up with Jack Harrison in the sprints, representing the police, and Rex Moore, another athletic policeman with a reputation as a formidable weight and field man. Besides Van Norman, Duncan will be represented by Eric Smythe and Yvonne Dingley, the latter taking in the open women's events, which will round out the programme.

Margaret Bell, British Empire and Canadian Olympic high jump representative, will add some high class female color to the meet in the exhibition bar event.

FEATURE RACE

Lee Orr and Jack Orr and Harry Neettleton, coach Karl Schladerman's Washington state sprint stars, who recently teamed with Bell Behnke, another Washington star, to equal the world's record for the mile relay, will run their four lap exhibition as one of the feature events on Saturday's card.

Marshall Limon, Addison's quarter mile rival from Vancouver, is expected to be in the starting line when the gun cracks for the 440, while Owen Bentley, one of the local dashmen, who is usually right in there at critical moments to score points for the local Y, should make the sprints interesting in what looks to be a fine field of speed men.

Nanaimo will be well represented by Hugh "Torchy" Thompson, a wiry young red head, who made a name for himself and the Canadian Olympic team last year in his specialty, the mile event.

DUNCAN GOLF

DUNCAN—Mrs. Grassie and H. C. Hanson were the winners of the twilight foursomes played on the links at Duncan on Monday. There were 44 entries. Mrs. Grassie and H. C. Hanson were the winners of the Suddaby Cup for the month, the former with an average of 36.62 and Hanson with 35.75.

U.S. DEBT NOW $36,400,000,000

Biggest in History, But Deficit in Fiscal Year Smallest Since 1931

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Treasury rounded out another fiscal year today with the smallest deficit in six years, the biggest debt in history, and $1,000,000,000 in its cash box.

Government income was the largest since 1921 and spending was reduced from last year. President Roosevelt made public at a press conference a budget bureau report showing revenues would top his revised estimate by $50,000,000 to $60,000,000. Spending for ordinary government purposes, it said, would exceed the forecast by $75,000,000. The $75,000,000 figure, Mr. Roosevelt stated, included $40,000,000 which the Treasury deposited in the social security old age reserve fund this month.

DEBT FIGURES
Mr. Roosevelt estimated the public debt would stand at about $36,400,000,000 at midnight tonight. This would be the largest June 30 figure ever recorded, but would be $233,000,000 under the all-time peak of June 15.

Treasury reports through June 26 listed revenues this year as $5,248,578,000, about 28 per cent more than last year.

Hoping for Good Batting Average

When Earl Stein spreads his "bat wings" like this at 10,000 feet he goes into a glide to thrill the crowds below. Stein also wears parachutes fore and aft—just in case the wings don't function properly—partly because Department of Commerce regulations require two of them, and partly because the mortality rate on "Bat Men" has been extremely high to date.

City Considers Sending Representative to Toronto On Fortin Scheme

In connection with recent negotiations on the alternate scheme of Jules E. Fortin for the refunding of Victoria's debt, a city representative may shortly leave for Toronto, it was learned today.

While the representative as yet has not been chosen, the source indicated Mayor Andrew McGavin might make the trip. Questioned today, the Mayor said no definite decision had been reached as yet on the matter.

LIQUOR CASE IS APPEALED

Defence For John Thompson Claims Party Held, No Beer Sold

Appealing from a police court conviction and sentence of six months hard labor for keeping liquor for sale, John Thompson of the Gold Bond Rooms, Johnson Street, appeared before Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court this morning. The hearing was adjourned at 1 to this afternoon, with the defence just starting.

C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, handled the case for the crown, with P. J. Sinnott defending. Details of a police raid on the premises at 245 on the morning of Sunday, April 25, were given by Inspector John T. Boulton, Sgt. S. Wilkinson and Constables J. Addison and S. McKenzie. Three dozen beer bottles, either empty or partly full, were seized. There were nearly a score of people in the place, men and women.

Gordon Goegehan, one of them, testified of going into the rooms with two others and seeing the accused Thompson take 75 cents in return for three bottles of beer. Mr. Sinnott's motion for dismissal on the grounds that Thompson was wrongly charged was disallowed. The defence counsel claimed the charge should have been selling, instead of keeping for sale.

Miss J. Adams, first defence witness, said the rooms where the liquor was found were hers, rented from Thompson as a place for serving meals, and that the night of the raid she had been having a party for a friend who had returned from Regina. There were no sales of beer, she testified.

New Rose Garden At Beacon Hill

There are many varieties of roses in the new garden.

The Japanese iris along the banks of the picturesque stream, connecting the gold fish pond with Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park are also now at their best.

WET WEATHER NEAR RECORD

Second Wettest June in Nearly Sixty Years Comes to Close Today

Victoria's second wettest June in the history of the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill ended today, with the promise of "light to moderate variable winds, fair and warm today and most of tomorrow" for the Dominion Day holiday.

Rain during June reached a total of 2.21 inches, which was 1.36 inches above the average. In June, 1888, there was a rainfall of 2.23 inches, which record had not been equalled until this year. Weather records have been kept at Victoria since 1878, so this June was the second wettest in 59 years at least.

Rainfall for the first six months of 1937 totaled 13.88 inches, which was 1.09 inches above the average.

Sunshine for June was well under average. For days the sun did not appear at all, causing the gardens to become beautifully green, but lacking in the wealth of bloom usually seen in Victoria in June.

There was a total of 231 hours of sunshine in Victoria during June. This was 49 hours below the average.

In severing his connection with the department, Mr. Bamford will be retained as official court reporter. He is leaving the position to take over a court reporting office in the city.

When he first joined the department, 15 years ago, Mr. Bamford was a member of the plain clothes branch. Six years ago, after acting as assistant for some time, he was made court clerk.

Weir Gains On McKeen

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. G. M. Weir, provincial secretary, today had added 18 votes to his lead over S. S. McKeen, his running-mate in the June 1 election when the official recheck of absentee ballots in the first two polling divisions of Vancouver-Point Grey riding was announced.

Dr. Weir now leads Mr. McKeen by 91 votes. Recheck of ordinary candidates, votes cast in the Port Grey riding, largest in Vancouver, gave him a lead of 73. Returning Officer E. E. Thomas has begun to count absentee ballots in the Kerslake polling division, and said he expected the result would not be known until the week-end.

Local returning officers, rechecking in Vancouver - Centre, Vancouver East and Vancouver Burrard, said many absentee ballots were rejected because returning officers or their clerks in outside ridings had detached the ballots from the affidavits of the voters.

Dr. Weir was returned as a member of the provincial Legislature, June 1. Mr. McKeen, member of the House last session, was defeated.

Will Submit Work Plans

After preliminary talks with the government yesterday on proposals to substitute work for direct relief in Vancouver, Aldermen Pettipiece and Fred Crane of the Terminal City returned there last night. They will make a written submission of their plans for consideration by the cabinet, it was stated.

Details as to cost of the scheme were not given out but it was suggested that extra cost might be offset by reductions in relief rolls. A "works test" recently adopted in Vancouver has resulted in many persons going off relief.

Ward Two Saanich Liberals will hold a 500 game on Friday this week, instead of Thursday.

Says Aberhart Still Popular

Lawyer Does Not Think Liberals Or Conservatives Could Win Election

Premier Aberhart will be in Alberta for at least another three or four years, having taken the interest of the people of that province during a timely period, according to J. Craig Brokovski, K.C., of Calgary, who is visiting the coast with Mrs. Brokovski.

Mr. Brokovski, well known to many former prairie residents here, will stay in Victoria until the end of the week and then travel south.

"We like to forget the Aberhart government when we get away from home," Mr. Brokovski said this morning, but he said that neither the Liberal nor the Conservative Party was likely to gain sufficient strength in the next few years to come into power. Aberhart's scheme for "making a fortune with a pen" struck Alberta during bad years for the farmers, when the other parties were in disfavor, he said, and was naturally popular.

He disavowed any personal political inclination. "Victoria," he said, "has grown wider and more beautiful since I last saw it."

Mr. Brokovski has been in the west for 27 years. He was honored a few years ago by the Polish government as a Knight Bachelor of Reborn Poland.

Sidney Cripple Assists Blind

Braille Typing Machine Invented By Island Man Shown in Toronto

TORONTO—H. S. Seeback, a cripple of Sidney, B.C., is inventor of a machine demonstrated at the convention of the American Association of Workers for the Blind that enables a sighted person to typewrite messages for the blind in Braille.

Proudly demonstrated by Superintendent M. C. Robinson of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind at Vancouver, the machine has a standard typewriter keyboard which automatically translates the ordinary letters of the alphabet into the Braille symbols.

"We are hoping it will soon be on the market, for it meets a great need," said Mr. Robinson, "but the chief feature of the whole thing is the tremendous handicaps that had to be overcome to bring about the invention."

The machine is a home-made affair Mr. Seeback managed to complete to bring further comfort to his blind father and sister.

Cost of Living Favorable Here

The cost of living in Victoria is from 12 to 15 per cent lower than in England, which should prove an attraction to persons from the Old Country wishing to settle here, according to a letter received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau this morning from A. S. Denny, Victoria businessman, who is now visiting Suffolk.

Mr. Denny says he finds Vancouver and Victoria confused in England, and has heard several complaints about the sidewalks and gutters in the business section of this city being dirty.

He mentions putting greens and seawater swimming pools as common in England, and suggests such attractions should be considered here.

Tenders For Ford Plant at Burnaby

According to H. R. Cottingham, B.C. Ford manager, complete plans and specifications for the new Ford Assembly Plant in Burnaby have been in the hands of 12 Vancouver general contractors for the past week and tenders must be filed by 12 noon, July 6, with McCarter and Nairne, the company's architectural supervisors for the new plant.

Originally estimated at $400,000,000 the present plans prepared in the engineering office of the company at Windsor, Ont., call for a larger building than at first anticipated, giving some 21,000 feet additional floor space at a total cost of $550,000.

Immediately after tenders have been opened and recommendations made to the head office of the company in Windsor, the contract will be let and construction started, and it is expected that Mr. Wallace R. Campbell, president, will be in Vancouver for the turning of the first sod.

RADIO DIRECTS CANADA'S FASTEST PLANE

THE fastest airplane in Canada became the property of the Dominion Government this month as officials of the Civil Aviation Branch of the Department of Transportation accepted the swift Lockheed 12-A from Fairchild Limited. This ship is shown at St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, where it will undergo exhaustive tests before flying to its home base at Ottawa to become the first of the Trans-Canada passenger service.

Propelled by twin 420-horsepower constant speed motors, the adjustable pitch propellers drive this silver streak at a top speed of 245 miles an hour and a cruising speed of 212 miles an hour at 11,000 feet. Every modern improvement for comfort and safety, including the latest Northern Electric Radio Beacon and two-way communication equipment have been built into this ultra-modern aerial argosy which will be recognizable by its letters "CF-CCT", and is similar to that which guided and kept Dick Merrill in touch with land during his latest triumphant dash across the Atlantic with historic news films.

Making Air Travel Safer

III-SPECIAL DANGERS

Stronger wings have helped make air travel safer. Fifteen years ago, accidents were caused every now and then by the breaking of airplane wings. Nowadays it is rare for anything to go wrong with a wing.

A crash in which no one was killed

Of all airplane accidents, about one-tenth are due to defects in the plane itself. The rest are caused chiefly by collisions with trees, mountains or other objects, and by mishaps during the take-off or in landing.

About one-quarter of all fatal accidents in recent years have been due to forced landings. There are times when the pilots cannot choose the place where they will go down. Lack of fuel, ice on the wings, fog, storms and other things may force them to land wherever possible, and the landing may take place in a forest, on the side of a hill or mountain, in a lake, or on some very rough field.

In addition to forced landing accidents, there have been some accidents during landings at regular airports during the past eight years. Most of these crashes have been of planes not in use for regular passenger transport.

Aviation companies have done some excellent work in bringing about safer landings. Airports have been enlarged, and aviators have been better trained in bringing planes to the ground.

There is work left to be done, however. Air travel ought to become the safest, as well as the quickest, way of getting from place to place. We are far from that goal today.

The autogyro has not yet come so far toward the front as I have been hoping. It can make a "straight-down" landing, and this takes away most of the danger in coming down. Another fact is that it doesn't need nearly so much space to land as the ordinary plane.

During recent months, several American passenger planes have struck the tops of mountains. Fogs, storms and other causes have kept pilots from clearing the peaks. As a result, there have been serious accidents.

There is something of keen interest to the public about airplane accidents. That is why news of a crash is telegraphed far and wide, and printed in newspapers. For this reason, many persons have come to believe that airplane travel is far more dangerous than it really is.

Looking back over the past several years, we find that scheduled airlines have made a rather good safety record, but the thing to do is to make it much better. The very fact that airplane crash news travels fast is a special reason for more care to be used in keeping accidents from happening. Safety is more important than speed.

What About Your Career?

Dorothy Dix

Why Not Consider Marriage?

A GROUP of girls who have just "finished their education," as the phrase goes, ask my advice concerning the choice of a career, and whether it will be better for them to go into business or take up a profession.

I know just how bewildered the poor little sweet-girl-graduate feels as she stands where the brook and the river meet, with a diploma under her arm, wondering where she shall go from here. She is all set for the top flights and ready to go in for science in a big way, or be a feminine Napoleon of finance, or write a best seller, or be a new star blazing across the Hollywood sky. But in this plethora of opportunities she doesn't know which to pick out. It is the embarrassment of riches.

I wish I could tell her which road to follow, sure of finding fame and fortune at the end of it, but no one is wise enough to do that. Success depends upon so many different things. Principally, of course, upon a girl's aptitudes, upon her character, her health, her ambition, her will to succeed. But it depends also upon the breaks she gets and how heavily she is burdened down with family responsibilities. No pack horse can win the Derby.

If a girl has a real genuine vocation, she does not choose it. It chooses her and she sings or acts or dances or is a stylist because Nature made her so. And if she has no especial bent in any particular direction, but just good, plain, ordinary intelligence, it does not matter what occupation she goes into. She will succeed, or fail, according to how much of her heart and back she puts into her work.

While I cannot tell a girl what career to choose, there are two or three homely facts that I would like to call to her mind that she often overlooks.

The first is not to overvalue herself and attempt to do things that are beyond her ability. Because she would like to be a prima donna or a cinema star or a famous writer does not give her the looks or the talent to be one. There are no more pitiful tragedies than those of the girls who have toiled and slaved and wasted their youth and impoverished their parents trying to develop a parlor voice into a grand opera one, or vainly attempting to crash the doors of motion-picture studios, or who have starved writing the stories that always come back to them from the publishers.

So I urge every girl to take a good honest stock of her own abilities before she picks out an occupation and then, when she has decided upon what she likes to do best and what she can do best, to develop her talent to the utmost. There is always a place at the top. There is always a demand and good pay for expert work. The reason women's work is so generally ill-paid is because it is so often such poor work. The women who are top-liners get fat pay envelopes.

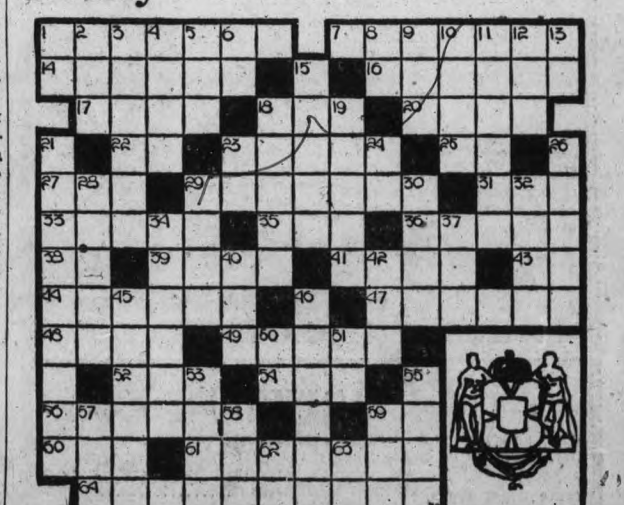

I would also recommend girls to pick out some line of work that belongs traditionally to their sex and for which they have an inherited aptitude. I know there are a few women who are steeplejacks and roustabouts and longshoremen, but the best of these aren't as good as a second-class man in that line would be. When God made the two sexes He intended each one to stick to its own knitting, and you will find that the most successful women are those who have done this and who are as feminine as a ruffled petticoat.

Next, bear in mind that the great demand is always for homely things. "People can do without poetry, music and art, but they can't do without cooks," as the poet said long ago. There is a limited demand for social secretaries and art critics and book reviewers and airplane hostesses, and so on, but there never will be enough stenographers who know how to spell to go around. And nothing can keep the super-saleswoman from getting to be the head of the department. People will always want good food, comfortable homes and hats that have style to them instead of being mere lids. And the women who keep good boarding houses and run hotels where the guests brag about the "eats" will always be in the money.

And finally, girls, in choosing a career don't overlook matrimony. After all, that is always a woman's best bet.

BOATS MET IN HARBOR

Olympic Slightly Damaged in Contact With Princess Joan

When the Princess Joan and Olympic came together off Shoal Point in the Inner Harbor yesterday the latter vessel sustained slight bow damage which necessitated repairs here.

The mishap occurred as the Princess Joan was leaving the harbor on her 11 o'clock sailing to Seattle, and the Olympic was completing her 11.40 trip from Port Angeles. It is believed that the tide was responsible for the two boats coming together.

The guard rail of the Princess Joan touched the out-swing door in the prow of the Black Ball ferry, used for the loading and unloading of automobiles. The door of the ferry was buckled by the impact.

The Olympic continued her scheduled sailings between here and Port Angeles, repairs to the buckled door being effected by a gang of workmen from Yarrows Ltd. as the ferry lay at her berth overnight.

The work was completed in time to permit the Olympic to sail on schedule at 7.30 this morning for Port Angeles.

Travel in and Out of City Expected to Be Heavy Tomorrow

For those who are planning to take to the water, rail or highways in celebration of the Dominion Day holiday, a great variety of attractive excursions have been arranged for tomorrow.

With low-rate fares quoted by the Canadian Pacific on the triangle steamship route between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle, as well as on the Steveston-Vancouver and Vancouver-Nanaimo ferry routes, and similar excursion rates by the Black Ball ferry between here and Port Angeles, a large number of people are expected to travel in and out of Victoria on the holiday.

The regular steamers will bring in excursionists from Vancouver and also from Seattle.

A special train will be operated by the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway tomorrow to Nanaimo to carry the excursion of the Ancient Order of Foresters. The train will leave the depot here at 8.30 and will pick up passengers at Shawnigan Lake, Cobble Hill, Duncan, Chemainus and Ladysmith en route.

The excursionists will spend most of the day at the Newcastle Island resort and will leave Nanaimo on the return trip at 8 in the evening.

LAND TRIPS

A variety of outings are offered tomorrow by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines with buses operating to a number of attractive holiday rendezvous. This excursion will leave the Coach Lines depot here at 9.15 o'clock.

An all-day mystery trip to an unknown destination, which will leave the depot at 10 o'clock, is expected to prove popular. Buses will give an excellent service to Elk Lake for the holiday regatta, with departures from Victoria at 1.15 in the afternoon on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, returning from Elk Lake at 6.15.

The summer excursion service will also be inaugurated tomorrow between Victoria and Cordova Bay and Thetis Lake.

He outlined a government plan to establish several North Polar camps in 1938 at even more remote spots than the present Soviet base and declared the government intended to continue scientific work in the polar region as a permanent project.

The explorer voiced agreement with the recently expressed view of Sir Hubert Wilkins, polar explorer, that a submarine could be used to reach the pole but he said Russia had proved that air-planes were more practical.

(Sir Hubert, addressing directors of the Canadian Geographical Society at Ottawa March 12, said he planned a submarine expedition to the North Pole, leaving Spitzbergen in May, 1938.)

Schmidt returned Friday to Moscow from the north polar base where four men and a dog are to spend the winter. It was from that base that three Soviet fliers got weather reports in making their recent non-stop hop from Moscow across the pole to Vancouver, Wash.

Dr. Schmidt said he believes planes equipped for blind flying and landing can operate over the Pole even in winter. He declared he was studying a plan to build a fleet of small amphibian tanks, capable of operating on land, ice and water, which could be used as bases.

The first month's study of polar conditions brought two surprises, he said—that the weather is relatively warm (the mercury has hovered around freezing) and that cyclones are numerous around the Pole.
